

ABSTRACT

By injecting noise into drive electronics, the start time of the MEMS gyroscope may be improved. A noise source is used to provide bandwidth limited white noise with a bandwidth centered substantially at the tuning fork frequency of at least one proof mass.